OUR EXPERIENCES HERE HAVE BEEN LIKE THE SUNSHINE OF SUMMER DAYS, THE SPLASHING COLORS OF AUTUMN, THE HEAVY STORMS OF WINTER, AND THE SOFT NEW VERDURES OF SPRING. OUR HAPPINESS HAS COME FROM FELLOWSHIP, COOPERATION, AND THE SATISFACTION OF TASKS WELL DONE. OUR WORK AND PLAY TOGETHER HAVE BEEN JOYOUS. WE HAVE ENJOYED THE CULTIVATION OF LOYAL FRIENDSHIPS; WE HAVE BEEN GIVEN THE OPPORTUNITIES TO BECOME BETTER ACQUAINTED

W O R D

WITH LITERATURE, ART, AND MUSIC;
WE HAVE HAD PLEASANT ASSOCIATIONS
WITH BOYS AND GIRLS WHILE WE HAVE BEEN TRAINING OURSELVES
FOR PROFESSIONAL SERVICE. MAY WE CARRY INTO OUR WORK ALL OF THIS INSPIRATION, ENTHUSIASM, JOY AND
STRENGTH. THIS BOOK IS OUR EFFORT
TO CRYSTALLIZE ALL OF THESE DESIR-ABLE AND DELIGHTFUL THINGS.

JUNIORS IN MUSIC

The members of this group are known as social seniors or music juniors. Because the music course is the only four year course in the Normal School, there is no organized sophomore class. As the music students do not graduate during the third year they are not full-fledged seniors. They are considered joint members of the senior class but have little in common with students who are making definite plans for graduation.

The members of this group are grateful to the Junior Class for including them in their activities. During the year these were the only organized class activities in which music juniors partook. However, they have been active in all extra-curricular activities. In June their classmates in the regular department will graduate, but next year the music juniors will join the present junior class to form a senior class which will have all the characteristics and privileges of a well-organized class.

Although the addition of a fourth year to the music course has caused considerable confusion during the last two years, this extra year of study has been of great value in raising the high standards of the music department in producing the finest possible music supervisors.

SENIOR COUNSELORS

The counselor groups are not formed for the purpose of social activities alone, but they are felt to be decidedly a part of a girl's training in preparation for her life as a teacher. They are meant to be a source of enrichment and a means of building up unprejudiced and broad points of view. Each girl becomes a member of a group upon her entrance into school, and it is through this contact that she is made to feel comfortable and at home.

The Senior Counselors try to help the girls, especially the newcomers, with any problems that may arise. They, with their junior and faculty counselors, plan parties, luncheons, hikes, week-end excursions, and other social activities for the girls of the group. These social contacts in small groups provide an excellent opportunity for developing social poise, confidence and leadership.

The experience of being a counselor is one which any girl would be unwilling to sacrifice. It is an invaluable opportunity for a girl to become acquainted with many girls of her own age who have different interests and ideas to exchange.

The student body at the Fredonia Normal School is organized under the Alma Mater Society, which directs the social activities and which provides a means of presenting and solving various school problems. It has been in existence for twelve years, fostering the democratic spirit which is evident in the physical, intellectual, moral, and social life of the school.

The Alma Mater Society encourages extra-curricular organizations in the school. There are so many clubs, catering to such varied interests and needs that all students are able to find some group that will satisfy them. During the year the extra-curricular point system has been introduced with the purpose of making clubs function more satisfactorily and effectively.

The activities of the A. M. S. are growing in interest and influence. We are looking for even greater results in the future.

JUNIOR COUNSELORS

Junior Counselors are chosen from the Freshman class at the close of the year. They are selected on the basis of their scholarship, executive ability, leadership, and character. The junior girls are expected to aid the senior counselor and the faculty adviser with group activities and other duties.

The Junior Counselors represent the best in character and personality and are dependable at all times. They aid in promoting the friendly feeling of the students of the school and help to provide a pleasant environment for girls, not only in their own group but among the girls of the entire student body. The counselors serve as "Big Sisters" to the girls in their groups—especially to the freshmen who are unacquainted with their new environment.

The group very often is the means of girls forming friendships which they would otherwise not form. The group parties are a relaxation from study which is very welcome after a hard day of work. There is a feeling of friendliness, cooperation and confidence between the counselors and their advisers. The contact between student counselor and faculty adviser is valuable to the girls in later years.

The aim of the Art Club this year was to develop an appreciation of fine art and to encourage manual skill as well as intellectual creativeness. To carry out these aims the Art Club chose the problem of a puppet show, because it offered a variety of problems, and opportunity for students to demonstrate their skill in wood-carving, modeling, costume and stage design, manipulation of marionettes and development of good speech.

Through the cooperation of the American Federation of Arts, the members of the club and all other students as well, had the opportunity of seeing many excellent exhibits of reproductions of modern paintings as well as those of the old masters.

The Art Club has thus tried to develop certain manual skills and appreciations for several aspects of art with which we had not been acquainted.

The Executive Board of the Dramatic Club is composed of the eight officers of the club, twelve committee chairmen, and two faculty advisers. As a directory board, it organizes the club program, budgets the money, authorizes expenditures, and is constantly on the lookout for means of improvement within the club.

The Executive Board feels that this year has been a profitable one. A new constitution was adopted, the stage crew built and painted a new stage set, and various new pieces of furniture were acquired. The Freshman class this year has many promising actors and actresses. The Executive Board prophesies greater success for the club in the future.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club is the oldest extra-curricular organization in Fredonia Normal. The purpose of the club is to give its members practical experience in directing, costuming, staging and acting. By studying the best in drama and by taking part in the various activities which contribute to proper presentation of a play, the students are equipped to assume responsibility of play production. The club affords ample resources for individual interests, and provides an absorbing recreation and splendid avocation.

The custom of the club has been to present a fall and spring program of one-act plays. This year, however, the club decided upon the more difficult task of presenting two three-act plays. Thus, step by step, the Mummers see the finger of Fate point to a destiny of success.

Starting this year with less than half last year's club, the Cecelians added many new voices to the group bringing the total number up to eighty. Girls from both the music and the regular departments were included. The club was able to do more difficult works and secure a more complete ensemble than ever before. Through the various types of music done in rehearsals, all of which was not presented in public performances, the girls gained the advantage of personality development through the medium of tone, color, harmony, interpretation—understanding.

With this larger group, the half-hour program over the Columbia network in January was more successful than the previous broadcasts. The annual concert in conjunction with the Arions was given January 30. At this concert, the clubs combined to sing "Emitte Spiritum tuum" by Schuetky, and Gounod's "By Babylon's Wave."

The club's repertoire included works from Palestrina, Purcell, Bach, Montaverdi, Brahms, Schubert, Wesley, Moussorgsky, Zoltai, and Taylor.

Forty students constitute the membership of the Boys' Glee Club, which has added another successful year to its credit. The main purpose for maintaining an ensemble of this type is to give its members a knowledge of the best choral literature and to develop a technique for producing music of a high standard. The repertoire includes numbers from early church music of Palestrina to the music of modern composers.

All men of the Fredonia Normal School are eligible for membership in the Arions Society. It is a singing organization made up of men who find a keen enjoyment in the art of singing. Thus the future success of the club is assured.

F. N. S. STRING ENSEMBLE

HARRY GUILLAUME	President
MABEL CLARKE	Secretary-Treasurer
MILDRED LARUE	Librarian

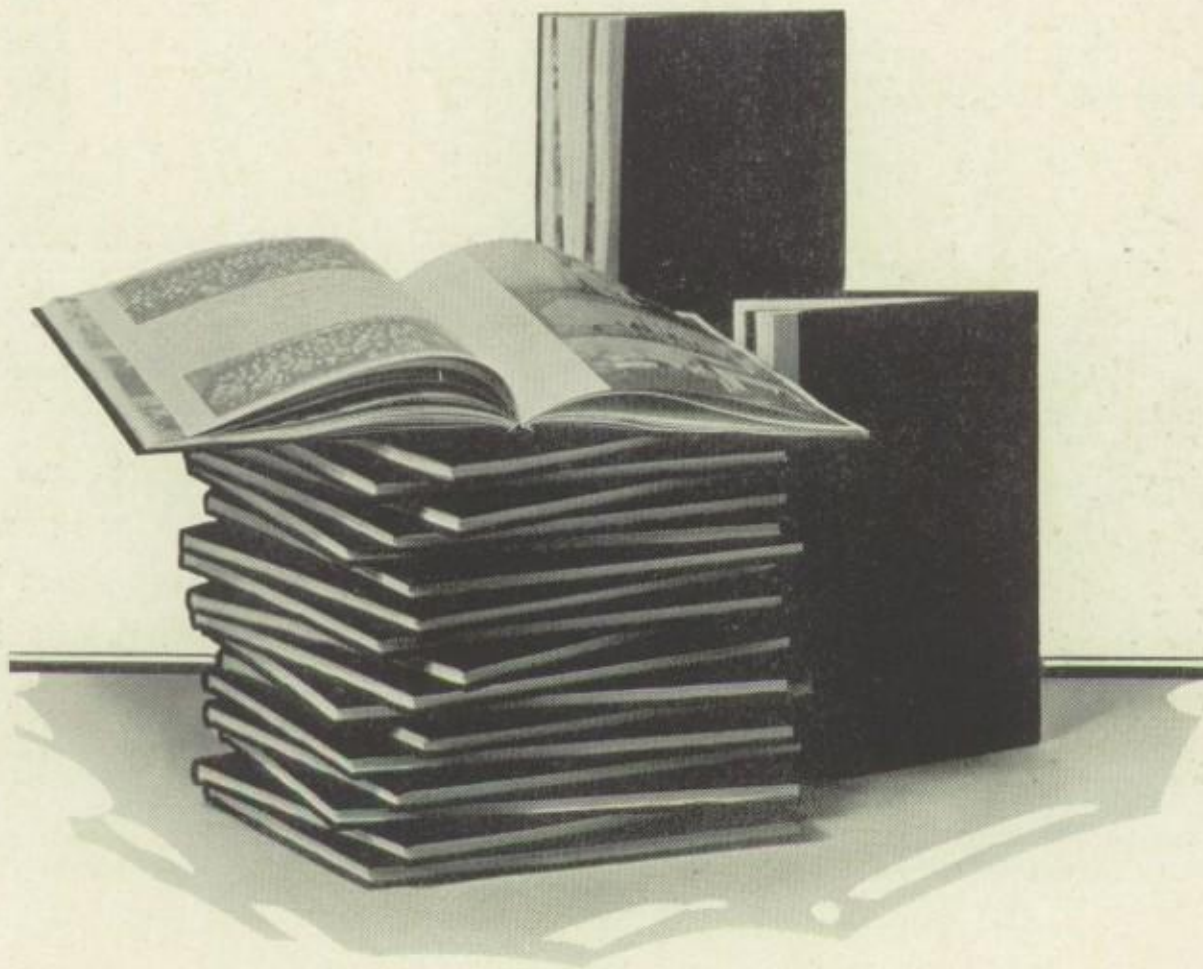

The Fredonia Normal String Ensemble has made itself an integral part of the musical training of the music students in the department of Public School Music. This organization gives the students of instrumental classes an opportunity for ensemble playing.

The majority of the members are playing instruments on which they have not specialized, and those playing orchestral instruments for the first time, find no little difficulty in adapting themselves to orchestral playing.

The aim is not public performance, but training and experience in playing and following a director as well as learning how to organize an orchestra. However, the ensemble gives a public performance once or twice a year, giving those who have never been in a more experienced organization, a chance to participate in a public performance.

Into this volume the staff has endeavored to place all those experiences and happy hours that have been ours and yours throughout the past school year. As years go on the friends and experiences that were ours here at Fredonia will become dim in our memories; yet, in this book we shall be able to relive those delightful school days and recall joyous occasions.

The Y. W. C. A. is an organization of many ideals. Not only does it aim to lead its members to higher levels of life but it also leads to character building through the cultivation of new friendships, the development of hobbies, and opportunities for the study of things which are of vital interest to modern youth.

An opportunity was also provided for correspondence between club members and students in foreign countries, leading to a better knowledge and understanding of these peoples.

These and many other activities characterize the spirit of the Y. W. C. A. Much has been accomplished this year and it is hoped that the year 1936 will prove even more successful and enriching than the one which has just been completed.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Basketball is one of the major athletic attractions for girls. The popularity of this sport in the schools throughout the state is an incentive for prospective teachers to learn the game. Fredonia Normal School gives the girls a chance to learn the fundamentals, to participate in, and to enjoy playing the game. Beginners, intermediate and advanced players all receive special attention.

The season this year began earlier than last with the inter-group tournament. It was a "fun" tournament that provided a get-acquainted avenue for the new girls in the school and was played without any preliminary practice. Following this, there were weeks of practice in basketball fundamentals, techniques and teamwork. There were mixed class practices, and special ones for each class so each team could work up its own playing tactics. Those who came regularly to practices formed the group from which class teams were chosen. Each class group selected its own captain and team. The season ended in an inter-class round robin tournament with the Junior class victorious.

THE VARSITY TEAM

Fredonia's major sport is basketball. This year's squad "did itself proud." Whether games were won or lost, the team showed excellent sportsmanship, the major requisite of a good squad. Hartlieb was an able captain.

Most of us agree that the team this year was the best that Fredonia Normal had had in many years. We needed only to watch the smooth functioning of the well-balanced, fast quintet to know that it could be favorably compared with a well integrated machine. All petty jealousies were cast aside as soon as the whistle blew and the observers saw cooperative team work at its best.

With such an excellent standard set for them, future teams should compare favorably with all rivals.

CLARENCE HARTLIEB, Captain

Hackman, Butcher, Fitzgerald, Brewer, Campbell, Coach Schaeffer, Chamberlin, Van Slyke, Crane, Lane, Christy

RESERVE TEAM

The future varsity proved itself competent throughout the basketball season. This squad, better known as the reserves, rivaled the first team in good clean sportsmanship and team work, thus prophesying the calibre of future teams. The reserve team is exceedingly strong as any of their adversaries will testify.

Capable leadership for this squad was found in the person of Chamberlin, who, along with other promising players, will probably be promoted to the varsity squad next season. In fact they will undoubtedly be the nucleus of Fredonia's intercollegiate team when the team next lines up against an opponent. This future team will unquestionably rival this year's standards.

THE INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

HARVEY BUTLER	President
LAWRENCE MESSINA	Vice-President
WINIFRED DENNISON	Secretary
MISS SHANAHAN	Faculty Adviser

The International Relations Club is a group of students organized under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace for the purpose of studying international events and enlightening public opinion. Though the club fixes the attention of the student on the underlying principles of international organization and conduct, it does not support any one view as how best to treat existing conditions. Through an extensive survey of international affairs, the club has studied the obstacles to world peace.

During the past year the club has presented two panels outside of school. The first panel, on "The Diplomatic Service," consisted of a study of the machinery which handles diplomatic affairs among nations through foreign ministers. "The National Defense" panel consisted of the study of the trade in arms and ammunitions in order to enable club members and audience to get an understanding of the problems attendant to this industry in regard to world peace.

Three delegates attended the Middle Atlantic Conference at Pennsylvania State College and participated in the panel discussions on timely topics.

BOOK CLUB

The Book Club is an organization to promote and carry on a study and enjoyment of classical and contemporary literature, a club whose membership is open to all Normal School students, a club in which members read for enjoyment and at the same time learn to understand the author's point of view that they may eventually criticize intelligently.

Regular meetings are held the first and third Wednesdays of every month. As a group the students in this club meet informally to discuss books, critics of books and their own ideas about books. The books dealing with problems of international appeal, such as the political situations in Germany, Italy and Russia, have been presented to us through biographies of the various leaders in these countries as well as many excellent contemporary novels. Through this study and sharing of each other's ideas, we feel that real interest in and appreciation of literature has been developed.

Not only do members desire an appreciation of literature but they take their club as an opportunity of getting together for social pleasure. How much more pleasant it seems to share books with pleasant companionship.

SCIENCE RIDDLERS CLUB

FREDERIC McMANUS	President
MARY GRUENBERG	Secretary-Treasurer
KENT AMES	Leader Reporter
ELEANOR PIKE	A. M. S. Representative
MR. OAKES	Faculty Adviser

The Science Riddlers Club is one of the newer clubs of the school, having been formed last fall by a group of students especially interested in the various branches of science. The club was previously known as the Nature Lore Club, which had as its main function, the taking of hikes to various scenic parts of Northern Chautauqua County. The Science Riddlers have kept this tradition of hiking and have taken hikes to such places as Lake Reservoir, Shumla Fall, Arkwright Falls and Wheeler's Gulch. At these places the members of the Club have not only had a very good time but, under supervision, they have studied the rocks, plants, and animals. Thus they have not only found an excellent way of spending Saturday, but have also become better acquainted with Mother Nature.

Besides keeping alive the old tradition of hiking, the Science Riddlers have extended their activities into other fields such as, photography, astronomy, microscopy, and electricity. Certain members of the club have led in each of these activities. In this way, the members have profited by each other's particular experiences.

As this year is the first time that anything of this nature has been tried, it is hoped that it will lead to bigger and better things next year.

THE PHILOSOPHY CLUB

The Philosophy Club is the only organization in the Fredonia Normal School that limits its membership to men only.

The club discusses religion, science, problems of the day, educational theories and any interesting subject that the members wish to discuss. Meetings are informal. Usually they are conducted as an open forum and each member is allowed to express his point of view. At various times individuals select a subject and report to the club the knowledge they have gained from research or present arguments on an issue brought up by a discussion at a previous meeting.

At no time has the club averaged over a dozen members, its purpose being to allow a small group of students to come together each week and informally talk over any subject interesting to the entire group. It is a club to aid its members to perpetuate their love of knowledge and wisdom through the medium of broad-minded, critical thinking.

STUDENT FACULTY

OCTOBER 17-18

The Executive Board was in session and the students who were crowding the lobby were speculating as to whether or not the Alma Mater Society would take over the school administration while the members of the Faculty were attending conference at Albany. When word finally came that the students would take charge of the school these two days interest was very great and the odds were in favor of success. The Student-Faculty was therefore elected and it functioned splendidly.

Not only was it a success but it was an invaluable experience to all those students who were chosen by their respective classes to teach the course in the regular teacher's absence and to those chosen for administrative offices. In fact all students showed excellent cooperation to make the experiment a success. The students will long remember their first experience in staffing an educational institution, and future classes will look forward to an opportunity to try the experiment themselves.
